BATTLE RAGING

Mexican Federals Attempt to Retake Town.

MACHINE GUNS IN ACTION

Government Troops Attack Agua Prieta, Which Was Captured by the Rebels on Thursday.

Two long clouds of dust marked the approach of two federal armies coming from the west. These were four miles apart, traveling the main road from Naco and were then about nine miles from Agua Prieta. It was believed the force in advance was the army from Cuernavaca.

Five hundred rebels under Juan Cabral swung in behind the two federal forces in an effort to get them between the 300 rebels in Agua Prieta and this rear attacking party.

Crowds began to flock to the American houses to witness what was promised to be a battle many times the magnitude of that of Thursday. Americans lined the housetops with glasses watching the advance of the two armies.

Troop I, of the First Cavalry, stationed at San Bernardino, arrived across the border, by the rebels commanded by "Red" Lopez, American troops crossed the border and stopped the fight.

This action was taken after three Americans had been killed and several wounded in Douglas and the command by "Red" Lopez, American troops crossed the border and stopped the fight.

GREAT ACTOR DEAD

Denman Thompson Passes Away at Age of 78.

He Created the Role of "Joshua Whitecomb" in the "Old Homestead" and Played Part For a Generation.

West Swaney, N. H., April 15.—One of the oldest and best known actors in America, Denman Thompson, who made a fortune from "The Old Homestead," died at his country estate in West Swaney. He was seventy-eight years of age.

Mr. Thompson had been ill of several months and his condition was extremely critical.

His son, Charles Thompson, and his two daughters, Mrs. W. I. Kilpatrick and Mrs. E. A. McFarland, both of Boston, were with him when he died.

Mr. Thompson was born in a log cabin in the hamlet of Beechwood, three miles from Girard, Pa., on Oct. 15, 1833. Two years previous his father, Captain Rufus Thompson, had left West Swaney, which in later years this boy of the wilderness was to make a household word as the setting for "The Old Homestead."

At fourteen Denman returned to West Swaney, and for three years worked with his father as a carpenter. When seventeen he set out for Boston in search of fortune, and soon after joined Tynon's circus as a property boy and actor.

The following winter, 1853, he made his first stage appearance as a "supe" under Charlotte Cushman, who was playing in "Lady Macbeth" at the Howard Athenaeum. Two years later, in 1855, he had his first speaking part, and following this he went about the country playing Irish and negro sketches.

While traveling Thompson was taken ill with rheumatism, and as he lay in bed in Pittsburg, Pa., he thought out the sketch called "Joshua Whitecomb," which he later developed into "The Old Homestead."

At the Boston theater in 1856 "The Old Homestead" was first produced, and it has had a continual run since that time. For five years Mr. Thompson traveled constantly with the company, but as the weight of years bore more heavily upon him he was obliged to give up all but the principal roles of an understudy, and finally to quit altogether.

During the winter of 1910 he created a short sketch modeled from a portion of the original "Joshua Whitecomb," which he played in vaudeville for two months.

Mr. Thompson was married in 1859 to Maria Ballou, who died in West Swaney in 1904. He is survived by three children, Mrs. W. I. Kilpatrick, Mrs. E. A. McFarland and Franklin Thompson.

PASSED PUBLICITY BILL

Given Unanimous Vote in House After Fight Over Amendment.

Washington, April 15.—The Democratic party met its first serious trouble in the house of representatives.

At the close of a session marked by insurgency in the Democratic ranks by reason of which the Republicans narrowly missed scoring a triumph, the house passed the Rucker bill for publicity of campaign contributions before election.

The fight arose over the extent to which publicity should be applied. But for the vigorous and continued use of the Democratic party whip, an important Republican amendment extending publicity to the individual receipts and expenses of candidates for congress, would have been retained in the bill when it finally passed.

As it was, the amendment was adopted over the protest of the Democratic leaders by the support of fifty-two of the Democrats, who voted with the solid Republican strength. Resort to a parliamentary move enabled the Democrats to get rid of the amendment, but twenty-eight of their number refused to change their attitude and stuck with the Republicans in opposing the Democratic majority.

The Rucker bill passed finally by a unanimous vote, but only after a most stormy session. The amendment offered by Representative Packman, a new Republican member from Kansas, required all candidates for congress to file statements of the source and use of their individual campaign funds, in both the primary and general election.

Paint Folly

Folly to put-off painting when paint is high, and folly to use "cheap" paint.

Your buildings are worth— you say how much. If you don't paint them, how much less will they be worth in a year? It will cost more to paint next year; it will take more paint at about $5 a gallon for paint and labor.

How much is the cost of paint by the year?

Depends on the paint. An average job is 3000 square feet, 10 gallons Devco: $2.25 a gallon for paint and $2.50 a day ($2.50 a gallon too) for painting: $4.75 a gallon: $47.50. How long will it last? Depends on the owner: say 5 years; and your cost for Devco is $9.50 a year.

"Cheap" paint, $1.75 a gallon, takes 15 gallons, labor the same $2.50 a day or gallon: $4.25 a gallon: 15 gallons $63.75. Say it lasts 2 years; it isn't sure two years; it isn't sure at all.

Enough: "cheap" paint costs more than good.
